Republican Mass Meeting in Beloit.

We learn from a hand-bill we found posted in the court room, (and, by the way, this is the only manner in which the information has been conveyed to us,) the arrangements for the mass meeting in Beloit on the 13th.

Senator Seward, Senators Sumner and Wilson of Massachusetts, Senator Doolittle of this state, Senator Trumbull of Illinois, Hon. John P. Potter, Aaron Burlingame, Owen Lovejoy, John Wentworth, Messrs. Carl Schurz, N. B. Judd, and the Wisconsin state officers have been invited to be present.

It is not expected, of course, that all of these speakers will be in attendance, but enough of them have already promised to attend to ensure a high order and variety of speaking. An invitation is extended to all republicans and wide awake clubs.

In the evening a torchlight procession of the various wide awake clubs will parade. Arrangements for half fare on the railroads have been made, and it is expected that this meeting will fully equal the Fremont demonstration in 1856.

The republicans of Beloit seem to have entered upon the preparations for this meeting with a zeal and spirit which justify the expectation that it will be all they expect or desire.

At the meeting of the republican club of this city, last evening, a committee was appointed to make arrangements for a large turn out from here, and we hope and urge upon the republicans of every town in the county such an attendance as will not only be worthy the character of "Old Rock," but will make the meeting a fit opening of a victorious campaign.

A Partisan Speech.

The speech of Douglas on the evening of his nomination is a fair specimen of his oratory. All other candidates are disunionists except himself—no one can save the Union but Douglas—all persons in favor of congressional intervention are disunionists—secession from the democratic party means disunion, &c. According to this all the fathers of the republic were disunionists, and all the public men, except John C. Calhoun, from the organization of the republic down to Douglas—and that is a good way down—were traitors; for all of them assisted to organize territories in which congress intended to prohibit the introduction of slavery. What would Gen. Jackson say if he could hear Douglas call him a disunionist? His indignation would be terrible at the presumption of so unworthy a representative of the great party which the old hero led to victory. No one ever doubted the power of congress to prohibit slavery in the territories until Douglas denied it in 1854; at that time he came forward with his project to repeal the Missouri compromise, and from that hour the subject of slavery has been agitated with a vehemence never known before. If there is any danger now menacing the Union from this cause, Douglas is more responsible for it than any other living man. Having stirred up the strife in the country by changing the ancient policy of congressional intervention to non-intervention by that body, and by throwing the question among the people of the territories to be fanned into the flames of civil war by the intervention of the president and all the demagogues of the democratic party in favor of slavery, he now calls upon the people to elect him to save the country from the disasters which he has brought upon it! As well might he have brought upon it! As well might the incendiary be called upon to quench the fire which he has lighted.

The speech was certainly in very bad taste. A candidate for the great office to which Mr. Douglas aspires ought to exhibit some dignity and less partisan hostility towards his opponents. Think of George Washington or Thomas Jefferson making such a speech upon receiving nominations for the presidency!

From Europe.—The steamer Europa brings intelligence to the 17th. Garibaldi was entirely successful; the royal troops continued to embark from Palermo, and the appeal of the King of Naples to the courts of Paris and London were unheard and useless. G. P. R. James the novelist is dead.

The Japanese are getting tired of being lionized, and have determined to go directly home from New York. So, unless they change their minds, Boston, Providence, &c., &c., will fail to be honored with a celestial visitation.

An Editor's Duty.

We hear that some of our Beloit friends have complained that the Gazette has given too little attention to the meeting to be held in that city on the 13th of July. Complaints against newspapers are very common and very easily made. We have had our full share in times past and expect no less in future.

Many a man who has a pet idea wants the newspaper (especially if he is "a patron" of the paper) to give that idea prominence over everything else. Many a man who is a candidate for office and has succeeded in working himself up to a fever heat, is very apt to consider an editor indolent or demoted if he does not devote his columns and bestow his labor to the especial advocacy of himself (the candidate we mean), or such a course of policy as will best advance his views and interests.

Many a man who is good at planning work for others and shirking it from himself, feels that a good part of the duty he has graciously assigned to himself is best performed by "blowing up" the conductor of a public journal for a want of public spirit or party fidelity. And so it runs throughout the entire course. An editor is a mere pack horse, to be laden at everybody's pleasure, and kicked soundly if he don't travel fast enough to suit the temper of his driver.

The particular case which has suggested these remarks is not an uncommon one, and we have selected it merely to illustrate a general practice; not to censure our Beloit friends, or exhibit the "spirit of a man" at their expense. We design by a little explanation to show that an editor may have a valid excuse for an alleged neglect of duty; and if in this explanation we can incidentally suggest the idea that it is possible that the complainant is not altogether blameless, we may do others as well as ourselves some good.

When the contemplated meeting was first announced, we were waited upon by a citizen of Beloit with a printed slip in advance of its publication in the local paper in Beloit, and requested to copy the announcement. We then made some inquiries in relation to it, and expressed a readiness to aid it all in our power. We were, however, told that the arrangements were not then completed, but when completed we should have further information. The announcement was made conspicuously in our daily and weekly, and last week we copied, unaltered, into our local department in the weekly the only article in relation to the meeting which had up to that time appeared in the Beloit Courier, having previously given the same article a good position in our daily. But from the time when we received the call of a citizen of Beloit alluded to, until the present, not a word of communication has been had with us by or from any person connected with the arrangements of the meeting, and our first knowledge of its precise character, except as indicated in the article copied from the Courier, was obtained from a handbill displayed at a meeting of the republican club of this city at the court room last evening.

We deduce from this state of facts one of two conclusions: If our aid was expected, we might reasonably expect to have been furnished with the materials to render that aid; or, if that material has been withheld, and we have used everything we could find, complaints that we have not done more are wholly out of place. An editor is not omniscient; contrary as it is to an apparently common belief, he has no intuitive knowledge of every event that occurs in the community, and while he may have a disposition to cheerfully aid in a public undertaking, he may be embarrassed in his efforts by the negligence or thoughtlessness of those who might effectually and easily cooperate with him by rendering a little of their own services.

Those fraudulent naturalization papers.—The Covode committee have in their possession over two hundred of the fraudulent naturalization papers which were manufactured in Walnut street, Philadelphia, for the presidential election of 1856, and by means of which, and certain "side-door" operations, Pennsylvania was carried for Mr. Buchanan. Over six thousand of them were issued, and as is now proven, partly by federal office holders. Some were distributed under the franks of democratic members of congress, who claim to have been ignorant of the flagrant abuse of their privilege. They were circulated largely in Philadelphia, and persons were hired to procure names to fill up the blanks.

From California.—The overland mail, which arrived at St. Louis on the 26th, brings an account of a fight between the regulars and volunteers under Hays, and about 500 Indians, near Pyramid Lake. The Indians were defeated—loss, 70 killed and several wounded. The battle was not decisive, and another was soon expected.

Adjournment of Congress.—Congress adjourned on Monday. The great measures of the session—such as free homesteads, the Pacific railroad, the admission of Kansas, and the improvement of rivers and harbors—have been lost in consequence of the persevering opposition of the democratic president and senate. The laboring men of the nation will be able to determine by these acts what party it is that is friendly to their interests.

From the account given in the Patriot, they must have had an extensive time at Madison on Saturday, when the news of Douglas' nomination was received. The procession walked around the capital square—the ladies waved their handkerchiefs, and "Young America's artillery roared." To pay for all this it did not become necessary to dun anybody. Condensed from the Patriot.

Thirty-three guns were also fired in honor of the nomination of Breckenridge and Lane.

The New York Herald predicts "the triumph of the republicans—the election of Lincoln, a republican congress, a republican administration." And it says it has no fears for the Union in that event, either.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE,
Office in Union Passenger Depot.

New York, June 27.

No signs of the Great Eastern, which was expected to arrive with California mails of the 6th, $1,500,000 and 400 passengers.

Washington, June 26.

Special to the Times.—Efforts are making without probable success, to effect an arrangement by which both wings of the democracy in New York shall run the same electoral ticket for President and Vice President. A similar arrangement is to be made in Pennsylvania if possible.

This important and startling movement is evidently based upon an agreement that Douglas is to be allowed a chance to secure the election before the people by the union of the factions, thus securing the votes of these two states on condition that if the election goes to the house he shall give the vote of the Illinois delegation to Breckenridge.

New York, June 27.

Gov. Pennington, Speaker of the House of Representatives, returned home last night and was greeted by thousands of his friends, who turned out to welcome him to his home in Newark.

A meeting of the friends of Sam Houston is called for at Schenectady, July 18th, to nominate an electoral ticket in this state, and designate a candidate for Vice President with Houston.

Milwaukee, June 27.

The propeller Kenosha, Capt. Mason, of the Cologingwood line, exploded at Sheboygan yesterday morning. The clerk, Curtis Benton, of Cleveland, and an engineer, Michael Murray, of Buffalo, were instantly killed. Three deck-hands and the chambermaid badly injured, recovery doubtful.

Second engineer and one fireman badly hurt, but it is thought they will recover.

The Kenosha was towed into this port by the steamer Huron this morning. No further particulars could be learned.

Philadelphia, June 26.

An immense torch light procession with music, greeted the return of Messrs. Covode, Burlingame, Grow and Blair, and a grand entertainment was given them by Henry O. Clay.

A meeting at the square was so large that there was speaking from four stands. There was great enthusiasm when the speakers introduced the names of the Chicago nominees.

Resolutions were passed condemning in the strongest terms the administration and its retro policy, and pledging support to the Pacific railroad and internal improvements, the republican policy and the Chicago and Hannibal nominees.

After the adjournment the procession stopped in front of the Continental Hotel, and Burlingame and Covode were called out.

New York, June 27.

The Herald's Washington correspondent says that intelligence from Madrid states that the Spaniards are so elated with their success in Morocco that they design having a dash at Mexico, making the necessity of preserving Cuba to the Spanish a pretext for their beligerent operations. And not only does Spain contemplate a descent upon Mexico, but the United States is to be called to account for the capture of the piratical war steamers off Vera Cruz not long since.

The same correspondent says that Mayor Wood has been conferring with Breckenridge, Douglas and the administration. He suggests that there should be but one electoral ticket in the state of New York, with the electoral college unpurged to either candidate, but to throw the vote for either, as may be most politic.

His proposition seems to meet with favor from both sides. If, however, this shall not prevail, the administration does not throw into the fight, the probability is that Mayor Wood will go with the popular sentiment of the state, which he thinks is in favor of Douglas.

The impression is that the administration will throw their whole power in favor of Breckenridge and Lane.

Washington, June 26.

The national democratic convention met at Washington to-day for organization, and prepared for the campaign August Belmont of New York, is chairman, and Thomas T. Morgan of Louisiana, is secretary.

Principals of the executive committee are as follows: Belmont of New York, Jewett of Ohio, Dick of North Carolina, Convers of Connecticut, Hallman of Pennsylvania, Bateman of Louisiana, and Fallett of Michigan. Resolutions were adopted recommending to the general state committees, that they take measures for the adoption of an electoral ticket in their respective states, for the unequal support of nominees.

Stephen A. Douglas and Herschell B. Johnson. Also, that if any state convention shall omit to take the proper steps for securing such a ticket, then the members of this committee from that state, is hereby authorized to take such action as they may deem necessary and proper for that purpose.

Norfolk, Va., June 27.

The Argus states that Governor Wise has pronounced the nomination of Breckenridge and Lane as the most admirable that could be made to save the Union. He will address the democracy at a grand ratification meeting to be held here Monday evening.

The Practice ship sailed to-day for Fayal Cadiz, Madeira, &c. She will be absent 3 months.

New York, June 29.

Steamer Kangaroo from Liverpool 18th via Queenstown, will be due at 4.30 P. M.

New York, June 27.

The democratic Baltimore Breckenridge committee was at work yesterday, and will complete their programme to-day.

Lancaster, Pa., June 27.

The supreme court of Pennsylvania met to-day in answer to a writ of attachment for contempt on the part of the authorities of Allegheny county. The sheriff produced thirteen members of the common council of Pittsburgh, who refused to vote to levy a tax for the payment of the interest on the Chartier Valley railroad bonds. The court appointed Judges Smith of Montgomery, and Long of Lancaster commissioners to hear the answers of the councilmen, should they desire to purge themselves of contempt. The decision will probably be rendered this afternoon.

New York, June 27.

Flour market more active and firmer, sales 18,000 bbls, 5,406,45 super western; 5,565,75 common to medium extra western. Wheat without striking change, sales 15,000 bushels, 1,23 Chicago spring; 1,324 1,34 Milwaukee club; Corn old and new, Oats quiet 37c40 western and Canada; 41c state.

A correspondent of the Detroit Free Press, writing from Marquette, Lake Superior, under date of June 15th, says that to that time no less than 21,869 tons of iron ore had been shipped there to Cleveland, Buffalo, and other lake ports. Large quantities of ore are on the wharves at Marquette awaiting shipment.

For the Daily Gazette.

Institute for the Blind.

The public examination which came off at the above named institution, yesterday, was a complete success in every particular, and reflected the highest credit upon all concerned.

The writer of this will not interfere with the duties of the committee on examination, by speaking of the exercises in detail. Indeed when all acquitted themselves so well, it would be invidious to particularize. Without the fear of doing injustice to any we may be permitted to say that the exercises taken as a whole, were of a very high order, and would compare favorably with those of any literary institution in the land.

Mr. Churchman, the popular and talented superintendent, possesses in an eminent degree that rare combination of qualities, needed in the head of such an institution. A clear head, cool judgment, quick perception, cultivated intellect, joined with great dignity and courtesy of manners and great executive ability, give to his administration such system and order and thoroughness as to secure the highest efficiency in every department. Aided, as he is known to be, by an able and efficient corps of teachers, second to none in their several departments, we were led to expect an exhibition and examination, that should be worthy of this, which so justly ranks as one of the noblest and most deserving among our public institutions. But great as were the expectations that had been formed they were more than realized by the numerous and delighted auditory present on the occasion.

The only regret that appeared to be felt by any, was that the people of the whole state could not be present to witness the satisfactory manner in which the object sought in the establishment of the institution has been carried into effect, and to participate in the pride and satisfaction felt by all who were privileged to witness the exercises.

The following resolution offered, impromptu, by the Rev. Mr. Balkeley, at the close, and responded by one unanimous and enthusiastic ray, by the crowded auditory that filled to overflowing every part of the spacious lecture room, does but simple justice to the performances:

Resolved, That the thanks of the audience are due and are kindly tendered to the officers, teachers and pupils, for the great gratification afforded us by the examination which we have this day witnessed, evincing as it has done great patience, devotedness, faithfulness and efficiency on the part of the officers and teachers of the institution, and diligence, application and proficiency on the part of the pupils.

SPECTATOR.

The bogus Douglas delegates.—It was the admission of the Douglas delegates from Ala., Ga., Louisiana and other southern states, which enabled the friends of the "little giant" to nominate him. In order to judge of the fraud that was committed it is necessary to inquire into the manner of the appointment of these delegates.

After the secession at Charleston, says the Cincinnati Gazette, the regular democratic state committee of Georgia called a convention at Milledgeville, to take into consideration the policy to be pursued in regard to the national convention. Primary meetings were held in the several counties, and delegates to Milledgeville were chosen by the people. The state convention voted, 298 to 41, in favor of sustaining the seceding delegates, and formally reappointed them to represent the state in the adjourned convention at Baltimore.

This was the fair, legitimate and conclusive action of the democratic party of Georgia, speaking through the "regular organization." But the 41 who were in the minority seceded, and appointed what they called (in imitation of the Illinois bolters of 1856) the "National" delegates, who were admitted by the Rump at Baltimore, to the exclusion of those regularly accredited.

The case of Alabama is essentially similar. The regular democratic committee of that state called a convention, which met at Montgomery on the 4th of June. John Forsyth of Mobile, and a number of other citizens, none of whom spoke in behalf of any democratic organization, issued a call for a state convention, to meet on the same day at Selma. The "regular" convention reappointed the seceding delegates by a unanimous vote. The independent, bolting Forsyth-Douglasites, at their meager convention, appointed a new set of delegates. These latter were voted in by the Rump at Baltimore, and the regular delegates were voted out.

This is but a specimen of the manner of getting up the whole list of the bogus delegations in the south favorable to Douglas. The fraud is so palpable and impudent, that the democrats of the country will repudiate Douglas, as soon as the truth is known. In the south where the humbug was perpetrated his nomination will be treated as an arant humbug.

John Schwartz, member from the Berks district, Pennsylvania, died at Washington on the 21st inst. He had been ill of jaundice during nearly the whole of the session, but until very recently was regular in his attendance upon the sessions of the house, and was highly respected as a conscientious and faithful member.

Dance at Johnston Centre.—The evening of the 4th will be celebrated at Johnston Centre by a dance at the house of T. Hasbrook. "Uncle Tim" has a way of getting up parties that please, and he will make a little extra effort this time.

The price of a ticket is $2, and he will probably have a very large party.

Literary Notices.

One of the most interesting and useful publications which comes to our sanctum is the Scientific American, a weekly publication, devoted to popular science, new inventions, and the whole range of mechanic and manufacturing arts. The Scientific American has been published for fifteen years by the well-known patent solicitors, Messrs. Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York; and has yearly increased in interest and circulation, until it has attained an understanding of nearly 30,000 subscribers, which is the best evidence that the publication is appreciated by the reading public.

To those of our readers who may not be familiar with the character of the paper, we will state some of the subjects of which it treats. Its illustrated descriptions of all the most important improvements in steam and agricultural machinery will commend it to the engineer and farmer, while the new household inventions and shop tools which are illustrated by engravings, and are described in its columns, will be understood and appreciated by the mechanic, the carpenter, the workman, the housekeeper, and almost indispensable to every mechanic or smith who has a shop for manufacturing new work, or repairing old.

The Scientific American is universally regarded as the inventor's advocate and monitor; the repository of American inventions, and the great authority on law, and all business connected with patents.

The official list of claims, as issued weekly from the patent office, in Washington, are published regularly in its columns. All the most important patents issued by the United States patent office are illustrated and described on its pages, thus forming an unrivalled history of American inventions.

It is not only the best, but the largest and cheapest paper devoted to science, mechanics, manufactures, and the useful arts, published in the world. Hon. Judge Mason, formerly commissioner of patents, is not only engaged with the publishers in their immense patent agency department, but as a writer on patent laws and practice, his ability is forcibly portrayed in the columns of this paper.

The Scientific American is published once a week, (every Saturday) each number containing 16 pages of letterpress, and from 10 to 12 original engravings of new inventions, consisting of the most improved tools, engines, mills, agricultural machines and household utensils, making 62 numbers in a year, comprising 832 pages and over 500 original engravings printed on heavy, fine paper, and bound expressly for binding, and all for $2 per annum.

A new volume commences on the 1st of July, and we hope a large number of our townsmen will avail themselves of the present opportunity to subscribe. By remitting $2 by mail to the publishers, Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York, they will send you their paper one year, at the end of which time you will have a volume which you would not part with for treble its cost. The publishers express their willingness to mail a single copy of the paper to such as may wish to see it without charge.

R. B. TREAT, Pres't.

J. H. BALCH, Sec'y pro tem.

A. CARP.—At a special meeting of Water

Witch Engine Co. No. 2, a vote of thanks was passed and tendered to Rev. Mr. Parshall for a liberal pecuniary donation to the company.

Also, a vote of thanks to Messrs. Geo. Benton and Henry Hemming for a beautiful supply of refreshments on the occasion of the late fire at the residence of Mr. Parshall.

Water Witch in accepting the donation of Mr. Parshall, do so not from a feeling that they deserve pecuniary remuneration for their services while attending to their arduous duties, but because of the spirit in which it was tendered by the donor, and with true friends' acknowledgments, they tender their only gift—their thanks.

Such donations serve to urge us to a better fulfillment of our duties as firemen, and we assure not only Mr. Parshall, but the public, that we shall ever endeavor to merit every such act of kindness as this. By order of the company.

CHAS. P. KING, Foreman.

JOHN C. SPENCER, Clerk pro tem.

CURRY COURT.—The jury, in the case of Moders, indicted for keeping a house of ill-fame, rendered a verdict of guilty.

Louis Erickson, indicted for having counterfeited money in his possession, was acquitted.

Sentence Day.—Yesterday was a general sentence day. Ogden Barrett was sent to Waupun for 1 year; Jeremiah B. Trout for 1 year; Jeremiah Traverser for 3 years; John Haywood for 2 years; James Whalen for 1 year and Melorris and wife for six months.

Several cases sent from the Madison circuit are extending the length of the term.

Life Insurance.

Those desiring this useful and cheapest protection for their families, should call on the Wisconsin company. It has already become, in reality, a state institution, having agents and patrons among the best business men in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

White duty demands that non should insure their lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confident that our success has been more than equal to that of the most "unprecedented" of "we would certainly invite all our citizens to call at the office, southwest corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.
